Resilient Cities in the Context of Climate Change

Message from the Guest Editors

We are pleased to invite you to this Special Issue regarding climate-resilient cities. This Special Issue aims to promote scientific research on topics related to measures to improve the resilience of cities in the 21st century. In this Special Issue, original research articles and reviews are welcome. Research areas may include (but are not limited to) the following:

- Nature-based solutions and green infrastructures.
- Sustainable drainage systems and low-impact developments.
- Sustainable urban planning and water-sensitive urban design.
- Flood protection.
- Adaptive water management.
- Energy efficiency improvements.
- Climate-resilient transportation systems.
- Community engagement and education.
- Disaster preparedness and early warning systems.
- Urban resilience governance.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

As the world of science becomes ever more specialized, researchers may lose themselves in the deep forest of the ever increasing number of subfields being created. This open access journal Applied Sciences has been started to link these subfields, so researchers can cut through the forest and see the surrounding, or quite distant fields and subfields to help develop his/her own research even further with the aid of this multi-dimensional network.
