

Special Issue

Advances in Supportive Care and Palliative Medicine Interventions

Message from the Guest Editor

With an increasingly aging population and a growing burden of non-communicable and certain communicable diseases, the global need for supportive care and palliative care will continue to grow. Their interventions not only improve patients' quality of life, but also reduce unnecessary hospitalization and the utilization of healthcare services. The main aim of this Special Issue is to seek high-quality submissions on the progress in supportive care and palliative care, as well as the results of their practical implementation. Topics may include studies on palliative medicine, on cancer and non-cancer diseases, and supportive treatments for patients facing serious illnesses. Keywords

- quality of life
- best supportive care
- palliative interventions
- symptom control
- holistic approach

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

As the world of science becomes ever more specialized, researchers may lose themselves in the deep forest of the ever increasing number of subfields being created. This open access journal Applied Sciences has been started to link these subfields, so researchers can cut through the forest and see the surrounding, or quite distant fields and subfields to help develop his/her own research even further with the aid of this multi-dimensional network.
