Bioactive Compounds in Medical, Pharmaceutical and Cosmetic Sciences

Message from the Guest Editor

The use of bioactive compounds, which are obtained from a wide variety of sources, has a long history. Their beneficial use is still observed today, with scientific evidence already published for many compounds. However, further research is still required. The medical, pharmaceutical and cosmetics sectors are currently assessing these compounds, but further studies are needed on compounds already in use, opening the possibility for new discoveries. This Special Issue aims to provide an updated collection, demonstrating new findings regarding the use of these bioactive compounds in the health field. We are pleased to invite you to contribute your extensive knowledge to this Special Issue.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

As the world of science becomes ever more specialized, researchers may lose themselves in the deep forest of the ever increasing number of subfields being created. This open access journal Applied Sciences has been started to link these subfields, so researchers can cut through the forest and see the surrounding, or quite distant fields and subfields to help develop his/her own research even further with the aid of this multi-dimensional network.
