

Special Issue

Research on Renewable Energy Technologies

Message from the Guest Editors

We are pleased to welcome submissions to a Special Issue focusing on renewable energy technologies. This Special Issue aims to showcase recent advancements in non-conventional renewable energy conversion and storage technologies. It will cover topics such as innovative approaches to energy harvesting, efficient and environmentally friendly storage solutions, and optimization, control, management, and integration of these approaches within existing energy systems. We believe that highlighting breakthroughs in novel technologies will play a crucial role in developing sustainable smart energy solutions. These innovations have the potential to support the development of new applications, stimulate economic growth, and deliver social and environmental benefits that go beyond current limitations.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

As the world of science becomes ever more specialized, researchers may lose themselves in the deep forest of the ever increasing number of subfields being created. This open access journal Applied Sciences has been started to link these subfields, so researchers can cut through the forest and see the surrounding, or quite distant fields and subfields to help develop his/her own research even further with the aid of this multi-dimensional network.
