

Special Issue

Advances in Wood Engineering and Forestry

Message from the Guest Editors

Advances in Wood Engineering and Forestry is a particularly and important topic dealing with the development of various analytical procedures and methods by determining the properties of wood and its constituents. The wood processing adds new value, and the appearance of machines with numerical control led to high productivity, superior quality of the processed surfaces, the reduction of the manufacturing remains, and finally to superior-quality products. Therefore, the objective of this Special Issue is to promote the knowledge about wood, superior wood processing in order to obtain new products of superior quality and to compete in the market economy by integrating all specialists in the field in some congruent and efficient actions and activities. Keywords

- wood
- forestry
- furniture
- wood machining
- composites
- wood chemistry
- wood drying
- forestry
- wood protection
- wood coating

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

As the world of science becomes ever more specialized, researchers may lose themselves in the deep forest of the ever increasing number of subfields being created. This open access journal Applied Sciences has been started to link these subfields, so researchers can cut through the forest and see the surrounding, or quite distant fields and subfields to help develop his/her own research even further with the aid of this multi-dimensional network.
