Industrial Ecology: Hazardous Waste and Environmental Chemistry

Message from the Guest Editors

This Special Issue is open to research, case studies, or review papers that will contribute to advances in hazardous waste management and interaction of various toxic pollutants with different environmental compartments (water, air, soil, and organisms). The following are some of the topics proposed for this Special Issue:

- Recovery of waste as potential feedstock and its conversion into valuable products;
- Control and management of hazardous waste disposal;
- Identification of environmental release of pollutants (e.g., emerging pollutants);
- Effective environmental risk assessment;
- Innovative techniques in remediation.

We especially encourage multidisciplinary papers. We hope you will contribute with your high-quality research, and we look forward to reading your valuable results.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

As the world of science becomes ever more specialized, researchers may lose themselves in the deep forest of the ever increasing number of subfields being created. This open access journal Applied Sciences has been started to link these subfields, so researchers can cut through the forest and see the surrounding, or quite distant fields and subfields to help develop his/her own research even further with the aid of this multi-dimensional network.
