

Special Issue

Web Infrastructure Enhancement and Performance Evaluation

Message from the Guest Editors

This Special Issue aims to consolidate the efforts of interdisciplinary research groups to develop and evaluate new standards, architectures, algorithms, and methods, as well as novel devices that can be used in the Web infrastructure. We welcome submissions that apply technology, load distribution, and load sharing problems, modeling the behavior of Web clients, applications of cloud and cluster Web-based systems, and other modern solutions in the range of the Web. The topics of interest are connected with Web infrastructure and include but are not limited to:

- Literature reviews or surveys.
- New technological developments.
- Empirical research and case studies.
- Critical views or visionary and forward-looking concepts and approaches.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

As the world of science becomes ever more specialized, researchers may lose themselves in the deep forest of the ever increasing number of subfields being created. This open access journal Applied Sciences has been started to link these subfields, so researchers can cut through the forest and see the surrounding, or quite distant fields and subfields to help develop his/her own research even further with the aid of this multi-dimensional network.
