Women in Smart Industrial System

Message from the Guest Editor

The purpose of this Special Issue is to collect high-quality contemporary research articles on the topic of “Women in Smart Industrial System” to enhance woman talent in the technology/innovation sector. Keywords:

- Smart industrial systems and Smart manufacturing;
- Digital gender gap and gendered innovation;
- Smart working;
- Digital job skills (hard skills, soft skills, STEM—Science, Technology, Engineering, and Math);
- Sustainable manufacturing, circular economy, bioeconomy (product life-cycle management, life cycle assessment, design for environment, etc.);
- Digitalization and 5G;
- Blockchain and smart industry (applications, benefits, etc.);
- Enabling technology (IoT, quantum computing, simulation and digital twin, additive manufacturing, big data, cyber-physical systems, augmented reality, horizontal and vertical system integration, autonomous robot, virtual reality, machine learning, etc.);
- Decision analysis and decision support systems applications.

Please note: Contributions in which women are the first author or one of the corresponding authors are strongly encouraged.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

As the world of science becomes ever more specialized, researchers may lose themselves in the deep forest of the ever increasing number of subfields being created. This open access journal Applied Sciences has been started to link these subfields, so researchers can cut through the forest and see the surrounding, or quite distant fields and subfields to help develop his/her own research even further with the aid of this multi-dimensional network.
