Message from the Guest Editors

Dear Colleagues,

The use of scientific computing tools is, nowadays, customary for solving problems at several complexity levels in Applied Sciences. The great need for reliable software in the scientific community conveys a continuous stimulus to develop new and more performing numerical methods, able to grasp the particular features of the problem at hand. This has been the case for many different settings of Numerical Analysis and this Special Issue aims at covering some important developments in various areas of application.

Axioms is dedicated to the foundations (structure and axiomatic basis, in particular) of mathematical theories, not only from a crisp or strictly classical sense, but also from a fuzzy and generalized sense. This includes the more innovative current scientific trends, devoted to discover and solve new challenging problems. The prime goal of Axioms is to publish first-class, original research articles under an open access policy with minimal fees for the authors. We would be pleased to welcome you as one of our authors.

Author Benefits

Open Access: free for readers, with article processing charges (APC) paid by authors or their institutions. High visibility: indexed within SCIE (Web of Science), dblp, and other databases.
