Biomaterial Scaffolds for Tissue Engineering

Message from the Guest Editors

Biomaterials play a crucial role in the field of tissue engineering with widespread applications. Both naturally occurring biological materials and synthetic biocompatible materials have been harnessed as carriers for cells or signaling molecules. They also provide structure as scaffolds to support the growth and differentiation of endogenous or exogenous cells. The focus of this special issue is to present recent advancements and innovative strategies that leverage the properties of biomaterials to facilitate and enhance tissue engineering.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

You are invited to contribute a research article or a comprehensive review for consideration and publication in Bioengineering (ISSN 2306-5354). Bioengineering is published in open access format – research articles, reviews and other contents are released on the Internet immediately after acceptance. The scientific community and the general public have unlimited and free access to the content as soon as it is published. Bioengineering provides an advanced forum for the science and technology of bioengineering. We would be pleased to welcome you as one of our authors.

Editor-in-Chief

Author Benefits

High Visibility:

indexed within Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), PubMed, PMC, CAPIus / SciFinder, Inspec, and other databases.

Journal Rank:

JCR - Q2 (Engineering, Biomedical) Rapid Publication: manuscripts are peer-reviewed and a first decision is provided to authors approximately 19.2 days after submission; acceptance to publication is undertaken in 3.3 days (median values for papers published in this journal in the first half of 2025).

Recognition of Reviewers:

reviewers who provide timely, thorough peer-review reports receive vouchers entitling them to a discount on the APC of their next publication in any MDPI journal, in appreciation of the work done.
