Precision Medicine and Emerging Technologies for Osteoarthritis

Message from the Guest Editor

Osteoarthritis (OA) is a complex disease with no concurrent cure. However, technologies are actively being developed to improve our understanding of OA and its risk factors to help us to more effectively treat and/or prevent its development. This Special Issue of Bioengineering highlights some of these advances in technology and medicine. Covered areas of interest include (but are not limited to) technologies designed to:

- Better understand OA disease pathology;
- Detect early stages of its development;
- Prevent cartilage hypertrophy;
- Prevent cartilage catabolism;
- Effectively deliver drugs/precision medicine into cartilage.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

You are invited to contribute a research article or a comprehensive review for consideration and publication in Bioengineering (ISSN 2306-5354). Bioengineering is published in open access format – research articles, reviews and other contents are released on the Internet immediately after acceptance. The scientific community and the general public have unlimited and free access to the content as soon as it is published. Bioengineering provides an advanced forum for the science and technology of bioengineering. We would be pleased to welcome you as one of our authors.

Author Benefits

High Visibility:

indexed within Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), PubMed, PMC, CAPIus / SciFinder, Inspec, and other databases.

Journal Rank:

JCR - Q2 (Engineering, Biomedical) Rapid Publication: manuscripts are peer-reviewed and a first decision is provided to authors approximately 19.2 days after submission; acceptance to publication is undertaken in 3.3 days (median values for papers published in this journal in the first half of 2025).

Recognition of Reviewers:

reviewers who provide timely, thorough peer-review reports receive vouchers entitling them to a discount on the APC of their next publication in any MDPI journal, in appreciation of the work done.
