Effects of Aquatic Sediments on Marine Ecosystems

Message from the Guest Editors

This Special Issue focuses on “Effects of Aquatic Sediments on Marine Ecosystems” and welcomes the submission of original research and review articles. Research areas may include (but are not limited to) the following: (1) key biogeochemical cycling processes in sediments or at the sediment–water interface and their responses to global change and anthropogenic activities; (2) the migration and transformation process of pollutants in water and sediment; and (3) sediment microbial activities and their effects on element cycling.

About the Journal

Message from the Editorial Board

A major strength of biological science is the diversity of approaches that biological scientists apply to their research problems. Biology reflects this diversity and brings together studies employing the varied experimental and theoretical approaches that are fueling biological discovery. Biology, the journal, is a fully peer-reviewed publication with a rapid and economical route to open access publication and is listed on PubMed. All articles are peer-reviewed and the editorial focus is on determining that the work is scientifically sound rather than trying to predict its future impact.

Author Benefits

High Visibility:

indexed within Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), PubMed, PMC, PubAg, CAPlus / SciFinder, and other databases.

Journal Rank:

JCR - Q1 (Biology) / CiteScore - Q1 (General Agricultural and Biological Sciences)

Rapid Publication:

manuscripts are peer-reviewed and a first decision is provided to authors approximately 16.8 days after submission; acceptance to publication is undertaken in 2.9 days (median values for papers published in this journal in the second half of 2025).
