

Special Issue

Molecular Basis of Seed Germination and Dormancy

Message from the Guest Editors

The goal of this Special Issue is to provide an overview of the latest research and discoveries in the regulation of seed germination and dormancy, including cloning novel genes, as well as the potential utilization of biotechnologies. We welcome all types of submissions, including original research, reviews, and methodologies in this field, including (but not limited to) research covering:

- Signaling pathway regulating seed germination or dormancy;
- Morphology or physiology involved in germination or dormancy;
- The role of phytohormones controlling seed germination or dormancy;
- Novel metabolites affecting seed germination or dormancy.

About the Journal

Message from the Editorial Board

A major strength of biological science is the diversity of approaches that biological scientists apply to their research problems. Biology reflects this diversity and brings together studies employing the varied experimental and theoretical approaches that are fueling biological discovery. Biology, the journal, is a fully peer-reviewed publication with a rapid and economical route to open access publication and is listed on PubMed. All articles are peer-reviewed and the editorial focus is on determining that the work is scientifically sound rather than trying to predict its future impact.

Author Benefits

High Visibility:

indexed within Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), PubMed, PMC, PubAg, CAPlus / SciFinder, and other databases.

Journal Rank:

JCR - Q1 (Biology) / CiteScore - Q1 (General Agricultural and Biological Sciences)

Rapid Publication:

manuscripts are peer-reviewed and a first decision is provided to authors approximately 16.8 days after submission; acceptance to publication is undertaken in 2.9 days (median values for papers published in this journal in the second half of 2025).
