Message from the Guest Editor

Intense and active research in the field of ASM physiology and pathophysiology aims to meet challenges like the identification of markers of airway remodeling, description of the crosstalk between signaling pathways involved in the regulation of airway smooth muscle cell hyperplasia, clarification of the pharmacology and therapeutics of bronchodilators, and optimization of the use of existing and development of novel drugs.

We cordially invite researchers in the field to submit original research or review articles related to interesting aspects of ASM function in health and disease.
