Pathogenesis, Diagnostics and Therapeutics in Obstetrics and Gynaecology

Message from the Guest Editor

This Special Issue aims to deepen and familiarize its readers with all the topics of obstetrics and gynaecology. Understanding the pathophysiological mechanisms allows us to better study the disease and provide early diagnosis. It is fundamental to choose the correct test as a diagnostic tool and then, thanks to cooperation with other specialty departments, establish the best therapeutic plan. The individualization of each case helps us to choose the best treatment regimen for the patient. We invite you to contribute to our Special Issue either with an original article or with a review paper.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Biomedicines (ISSN 2227-9059) is an open access journal devoted to all aspects of research on human health and disease, the discovery and characterization of new therapeutic targets, therapeutic strategies, and research of naturally driven biomedicines, pharmaceuticals, and biopharmaceutical products. Topics include pathogenesis mechanisms of diseases, translational medical research, biomaterial in biomedical research, natural bioactive molecules, biologics, vaccines, gene therapies, cell-based therapies, targeted specific antibodies, recombinant therapeutic proteins, nanobiotechnology driven products, targeted therapy, bioimaging, biosensors, biomarkers, and biosimilars. The journal is open for publication of studies conducted at the basic science and preclinical research levels. We invite you to consider submitting your work to Biomedicines, be it original research, review articles, or developing Special Issues of current key topics.
