

Special Issue

Recent Advances in Traumatic Brain Injury Using Large Animal Models

Message from the Guest Editors

This Special Issue will serve to address a preclinical platform for developing and evaluating diagnostic as well as prognostic tools and interventions through the presentation of original research articles, reviews, and rapid short communication papers focusing on "Recent Advances in Traumatic Brain Injury Using Large Animal Models". The primary target audience for this Special Issue includes researchers employing an integrated biomechanics approach that incorporates large animal models, cell and tissue experiments, human studies, and the subsequent translation of these findings into preclinical therapeutic trials aimed at mitigating and preventing brain injuries.
