Colorectal Cancer: Diagnostic, Pathophysiology and Therapeutic Approaches

Message from the Guest Editors

Colorectal cancer currently represents an increasing medical and economic burden worldwide. This Special Issue will focus on the pathophysiology of colorectal cancer, with a special interest in new diagnostic and therapeutic approaches. We invite authors to submit original research and review articles on potential topics that include biomarkers, diagnosis and therapy of colorectal cancer, and recent advances in colorectal cancer management (including combinations of multiple treatment options such as surgery, chemotherapy and immunotherapy). The role of gut microbiota in the diagnosis and therapy of colorectal cancer will also be emphasized.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Biomedicines (ISSN 2227-9059) is an open access journal devoted to all aspects of research on human health and disease, the discovery and characterization of new therapeutic targets, therapeutic strategies, and research of naturally driven biomedicines, pharmaceuticals, and biopharmaceutical products. Topics include pathogenesis mechanisms of diseases, translational medical research, biomaterial in biomedical research, natural bioactive molecules, biologics, vaccines, gene therapies, cell-based therapies, targeted specific antibodies, recombinant therapeutic proteins, nanobiotechnology driven products, targeted therapy, bioimaging, biosensors, biomarkers, and biosimilars. The journal is open for publication of studies conducted at the basic science and preclinical research levels. We invite you to consider submitting your work to Biomedicines, be it original research, review articles, or developing Special Issues of current key topics.
