Advances in Fetal Medicine and Neonatology

Message from the Guest Editor

This Special Issue is dedicated to advancements in fetal medicine and neonatology. This focused collection aims at showcasing the latest research, innovations, and clinical practices transforming perinatal care.

Contributors are encouraged to submit original articles and review papers that explore novel diagnostic tools, therapeutic interventions, and management strategies in these dynamic fields. We welcome contributions addressing topics such as prenatal screening, fetal surgery, neonatal intensive care, and long-term outcomes for high-risk infants. This Special Issue offers a unique opportunity for researchers, clinicians, and healthcare professionals to share their insights, foster interdisciplinary dialogue, and propel the frontiers of fetal and neonatal care. We look forward to receiving your groundbreaking work that contributes to improving the health and survival of infants globally.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Biomedicines (ISSN 2227-9059) is an open access journal devoted to all aspects of research on human health and disease, the discovery and characterization of new therapeutic targets, therapeutic strategies, and research of naturally driven biomedicines, pharmaceuticals, and biopharmaceutical products. Topics include pathogenesis mechanisms of diseases, translational medical research, biomaterial in biomedical research, natural bioactive molecules, biologics, vaccines, gene therapies, cell-based therapies, targeted specific antibodies, recombinant therapeutic proteins, nanobiotechnology driven products, targeted therapy, bioimaging, biosensors, biomarkers, and biosimilars. The journal is open for publication of studies conducted at the basic science and preclinical research levels. We invite you to consider submitting your work to Biomedicines, be it original research, review articles, or developing Special Issues of current key topics.
