Antisense Therapy

Message from the Guest Editor

This Special Issue, “Antisense Therapy”, will focus on the progress of antisense oligonucleotides as therapy for various conditions. Issues that need addressing are Duchenne muscular dystrophy (DMD) and exon skipping; spinal muscular dystrophy and antisense oligonucleotides; new chemistries; enhancing delivery; genetic modifiers; miRNAs and antagomirs. We cordially invite authors in the field to submit review articles or original research to this Special Issue of Biomedicines.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Biomedicines (ISSN 2227-9059) is an open access journal devoted to all aspects of research on human health and disease, the discovery and characterization of new therapeutic targets, therapeutic strategies, and research of naturally driven biomedicines, pharmaceuticals, and biopharmaceutical products. Topics include pathogenesis mechanisms of diseases, translational medical research, biomaterial in biomedical research, natural bioactive molecules, biologics, vaccines, gene therapies, cell-based therapies, targeted specific antibodies, recombinant therapeutic proteins, nanobiotechnology driven products, targeted therapy, bioimaging, biosensors, biomarkers, and biosimilars. The journal is open for publication of studies conducted at the basic science and preclinical research levels. We invite you to consider submitting your work to Biomedicines, be it original research, review articles, or developing Special Issues of current key topics.
