Cholestatic Liver Diseases: From the Bench to Bedside

Message from the Guest Editors

This Special Issue aims to publish high-quality research papers as well as review articles on recent advances in the understanding of the pathogenesis of PBC and PSC, to provide a clinical picture of these diseases as well as novel treatment modalities. Original unpublished papers that are not currently under review by other journals and peer-reviewed high-quality contributions from conferences are sought. We invite practitioners and researchers in the areas of basic science and clinical hepatology to contribute to this Special Issue both with original research and review articles, with the aim of providing an overview of the currently available knowledge and new findings on cholestatic liver diseases.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Biomedicines (ISSN 2227-9059) is an open access journal devoted to all aspects of research on human health and disease, the discovery and characterization of new therapeutic targets, therapeutic strategies, and research of naturally driven biomedicines, pharmaceuticals, and biopharmaceutical products. Topics include pathogenesis mechanisms of diseases, translational medical research, biomaterial in biomedical research, natural bioactive molecules, biologics, vaccines, gene therapies, cell-based therapies, targeted specific antibodies, recombinant therapeutic proteins, nanobiotechnology driven products, targeted therapy, bioimaging, biosensors, biomarkers, and biosimilars. The journal is open for publication of studies conducted at the basic science and preclinical research levels. We invite you to consider submitting your work to Biomedicines, be it original research, review articles, or developing Special Issues of current key topics.
