State-of-the-Art Neurologic Disease in Italy

Message from the Guest Editor

The aim of this Special Issue is to provide a state-of-the-art review on the current knowledge and management of psychiatric and neurologic diseases in Italy, including aspects related to the molecular effects of COVID-19 pandemic on brain functions in Italy. The purpose is to share evidence concerning the most recent development and perspectives in research and clinical management of patients with brain disorders, such as stroke and other neurologic conditions involving the central nervous system and peripheral nerves, as well as psychiatric disorders and neurodegenerative diseases. Neurologists, neuropsychiatrists, psychologists and basic research scientists are encouraged to submit studies concerning new potential biomarkers targetable for innovative therapeutic strategies and innovative evidence reporting new mechanisms or novel genetic as well as metabolic risk factors in psychiatric and neurologic disorders.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Biomedicines (ISSN 2227-9059) is an open access journal devoted to all aspects of research on human health and disease, the discovery and characterization of new therapeutic targets, therapeutic strategies, and research of naturally driven biomedicines, pharmaceuticals, and biopharmaceutical products. Topics include pathogenesis mechanisms of diseases, translational medical research, biomaterial in biomedical research, natural bioactive molecules, biologics, vaccines, gene therapies, cell-based therapies, targeted specific antibodies, recombinant therapeutic proteins, nanobiotechnology driven products, targeted therapy, bioimaging, biosensors, biomarkers, and biosimilars. The journal is open for publication of studies conducted at the basic science and preclinical research levels. We invite you to consider submitting your work to Biomedicines, be it original research, review articles, or developing Special Issues of current key topics.
