Bioantioxidants in Health and Disease: Chemical, Biological and Biomedical Aspects

Message from the Guest Editors

The forthcoming Special Issue of Biomedicines, “Bioantioxidants in Health and Disease: Chemical, Biological and Biomedical Aspects” is devoted to chemical and biological mechanisms of the functioning bioantioxidants in health and disease, as well as to the pertinent biomedical implications, drawing particular attention to unresolved contemporary issues which merit in-depth investigation. Contributions are invited concerning all kinds of endogenous and exogenous antioxidants, both natural and synthetics, but only research papers dealing with well-characterized substances and clear chemical composition will be considered for further processing. Critical reviews on this topic are also welcome.
