Multiple Sclerosis: Diagnosis and Treatment II

Message from the Guest Editor

This Special Issue is the second volume of our previous Special Issue “Multiple Sclerosis: Diagnosis and Treatment”. We cordially invite authors and investigators within this complex field of universal interest to submit original research or review articles pertaining to this Special Issue. Studies and opinions on risk factors related to the development of the disease, molecular aspects of its pathogenesis, diagnostic intricacies despite current criteria, and the status of disease-modifying therapies’ effects in relapsing and progressive forms of MS, and what is foreseen on the horizon are welcome.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Biomedicines (ISSN 2227-9059) is an open access journal devoted to all aspects of research on human health and disease, the discovery and characterization of new therapeutic targets, therapeutic strategies, and research of naturally driven biomedicines, pharmaceuticals, and biopharmaceutical products. Topics include pathogenesis mechanisms of diseases, translational medical research, biomaterial in biomedical research, natural bioactive molecules, biologics, vaccines, gene therapies, cell-based therapies, targeted specific antibodies, recombinant therapeutic proteins, nanobiotechnology driven products, targeted therapy, bioimaging, biosensors, biomarkers, and biosimilars. The journal is open for publication of studies conducted at the basic science and preclinical research levels. We invite you to consider submitting your work to Biomedicines, be it original research, review articles, or developing Special Issues of current key topics.
