Oral Cancer: From Pathophysiology to Novel Therapeutic Approaches

Message from the Guest Editor

Topics of interest for this Special Issue include, but are not limited to:

- Precision medicine, i.e., targeted therapies that inhibit oral carcinogenesis and tumorigenesis mechanisms;
- Combination of novel therapeutic approaches with standard-of-care regimens in OSCC;
- Biomarkers, i.e., predictive and prognostic markers for therapeutic approaches.

For this Special Issue of Biomedicines, entitled “Oral Cancer: From Pathophysiology to Novel Therapeutic Approaches,” we are inviting the submission of original articles, review articles, systematic reviews, and meta-analyses considering oral carcinogenesis, tumorigenesis, and novel therapeutic approaches as well as biomarkers for treatment efficacy. New experimental clinical results for HNSCC are also welcome. I look forward to receiving your contributions.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Biomedicines (ISSN 2227-9059) is an open access journal devoted to all aspects of research on human health and disease, the discovery and characterization of new therapeutic targets, therapeutic strategies, and research of naturally driven biomedicines, pharmaceuticals, and biopharmaceutical products. Topics include pathogenesis mechanisms of diseases, translational medical research, biomaterial in biomedical research, natural bioactive molecules, biologics, vaccines, gene therapies, cell-based therapies, targeted specific antibodies, recombinant therapeutic proteins, nanobiotechnology driven products, targeted therapy, bioimaging, biosensors, biomarkers, and biosimilars. The journal is open for publication of studies conducted at the basic science and preclinical research levels. We invite you to consider submitting your work to Biomedicines, be it original research, review articles, or developing Special Issues of current key topics.
