Message from the Guest Editors

Dear Colleagues,

This Special Issue, entitled “Fundamentals of SARS-CoV-2 biosensors”, has been devoted to one of the more dynamic battlefields for sensor technology in our era. Biosensors have been driven for the widespread diagnosis and treatment of COVID-19. Coronavirus identification by chemical and physical biosignals represents an urgent topic of scientific research, with explosive progress for screening and evaluating its potential action in biological parameters. Biosensors are between the most evocative members of the family of the modern world of technology. Original or review papers describing new opportunities for revealing the activation or inhibition of coronavirus threatening biological systems are welcome.

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Biosensors is a leading journal, devoted to fast publication of the latest achievements, technological developments and scientific research in the exciting multidisciplinary area of biosensors. Both experimental and theoretical papers are published, including all aspects of biosensor design, technology, proof of concept and application. Special issues are devoted to specific technologies and applications, and a selection of the most outstanding papers each year is recognized. Pushing the boundaries of the discipline, we invite original papers, as well as timely reviews on cutting edge fields within the subject area.

Author Benefits

Open Access: free for readers, with article processing charges (APC) paid by authors or their institutions.

High Visibility: indexed within Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), PubMed, MEDLINE, PMC, Embase, CAPlus / SciFinder, Inspec, and other databases.

Journal Rank: JCR - Q1 (Chemistry, Analytical) / CiteScore - Q1 (Engineering (miscellaneous))
