Message from the Guest Editors

Dear Colleagues,

Neurotology is a specialty closely related to vestibular and ear diseases (Meniere's disease, vestibular neuronitis, vestibular schwannoma, facial nerve paralysis, otosclerosis, otitis, benign paroxysmal positional vertigo) and hearing disorders (tinnitus, hearing loss, deafness). The diagnosis and therapy of neurotological disorders are complex. The identification of biomarkers for neurotological disorders could help to better understand their underlying pathophysiological mechanisms, differential diagnosis, and response to therapy. In recent decades, clinical and biochemical markers, including imaging techniques and genetics, have emerged as promising tools for neurotology.

The current Special Issue of Brain Sciences aims to present the latest research on the role of clinical and biochemical markers for adult and pediatric neurotology.

Authors are invited to submit relevant original research and review papers.

The scientific community and the general public can access the content free of charge as soon as it is published.

Author Benefits

Open Access: free for readers, with article processing charges (APC) paid by authors or their institutions.

High Visibility: indexed within Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), PubMed, PMC, Embase, PSYINDEX, CAPlus / SciFinder, and other databases.

Rapid Publication: manuscripts are peer-reviewed and a first decision is provided to authors approximately 15.6 days after submission; acceptance to publication is undertaken in 2.5 days (median values for papers published in this journal in the second half of 2023).
