

Special Issue

A Decade of Brain Sciences

Message from the Guest Editor

We are planning a Special Issue "A Decade of Brain Sciences", which was inspired as part of the decennial celebrations for the journal Brain Sciences (see details of the journal below). The purpose of this Issue is to reflect on the past decade's progress in neuroscience research, and to identify emerging issues to address over the coming decade. In this Special Issue, we aim to encourage contributions from leaders in the field (including Editorial Board Members) who can contribute reviews within their area of neuroscience expertise. Our hope is to create a Special Issue that will highlight important and emerging topics that are in line with the aim and scope of Brain Sciences.
