New Challenges and Future Perspectives in Parkinson's Disease and Motor Disorders

Message from the Guest Editor

"Parkinson's disease (PD) is characterized by a range of motor and nonmotor symptoms. The classic motor features of PD, including akinesia, bradykinesia, resting tremor, and rigidity, are causally linked to the degeneration of midbrain dopaminergic neurons. In contrast, the pathophysiology of nonmotor symptoms, such as olfactory deficits, cognitive impairments, and neuropsychiatric symptoms, remains poorly understood. The present Special Issue of Brain Sciences aims to collect international papers (research articles, narrative reviews, systematic reviews, meta-analyses, case studies) focused on the pathophysiology and treatment of motor and nonmotor symptoms of PD."
