Systematic Reviews and Meta-Analyses Collection on Molecular and Cellular Neuroscience

Message from the Collection Editor

We recently started a Special Issue dedicated to systematic reviews and meta-analyses of the molecular and cellular basis of neurological disorders. The scope of the issue is broad and covers all aspects of molecular and cellular neuroscience, from genetic analyses of human populations to tissue culture and animal models of neurological disorders. The covered topics include research on action potentials, glial cells, ion channels, neuroimmunology, neurotransmitters, protein trafficking, and synapses. Of particular interest are studies using animal models of disease with translational prospects, and experimental works utilizing a bedside-to-bench approach to validate disease signatures from human patients.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

You are invited to contribute a research article or a comprehensive review for consideration and publication in Brain Sciences (ISSN 2076-3425). Brain Sciences is an open access, peer-reviewed scientific journal that publishes original articles, critical reviews, research notes, and short communications on neuroscience. The scientific community and the general public can access the content free of charge as soon as it is published.

Author Benefits

High Visibility:

indexed within Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), PubMed, PMC, Embase, PSYINDEX, PsycInfo, CAPlus / SciFinder, and other databases.

Rapid Publication:

manuscripts are peer-reviewed and a first decision is provided to authors approximately 16.2 days after submission; acceptance to publication is undertaken in 1.9 days (median values for papers published in this journal in the first half of 2025).

Recognition of Reviewers:

reviewers who provide timely, thorough peer-review reports receive vouchers entitling them to a discount on the APC of their next publication in any MDPI journal, in appreciation of the work done.
