Advances in Melanoma Treatments: Molecular Targeted Therapies, Immunotherapies and Vaccines

Message from the Guest Editors

This Special Issue will focus on discussing the recent advances in the field as well as commenting on the future implications of these findings. Through this, we plan to emphasize the knowledge gaps that currently exist and address the potential ways that can lead to the improvement of current therapeutic approaches against melanoma.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Cancers (ISSN 2072-6694) is an international, online journal addressing both clinical and basic science issues related to cancer research. The journal will continue its open access format, which will certainly evolve to ensure that the journal takes full advantage of the rapidly changing world of information and knowledge dissemination. It publishes high-quality clinical, translational, and basic science research on cancer prevention, initiation, progression, and treatment, as well as other related topics, particularly to capture the most seminal studies in the rapidly growing area of immunology, immunotherapy, and tumor microenvironment.
