

Special Issue

Advances in the Management of Pelvic Tumors

Message from the Guest Editors

Pelvic tumors are quite frequent diseases and include prostate, bladder, uterine, ovarian, rectal and anal malignancies. The treatment of tumors occurring within the pelvis may be challenging. This Special Issue will cover advances in the management of pelvic cancers, including surgical, medical and radiation treatments. It will focus on organ-confined and locally advanced diseases. Novel findings in robotic surgery as well as medical and personalized therapies are welcomed.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Cancers is an international online journal addressing both clinical and basic science issues related to cancer research. The journal is publishing in Open Access format, which will certainly evolve to ensure that the journal takes full advantage of the rapidly changing world of information and knowledge dissemination. It publishes high-quality clinical, translational, and basic science research on cancer prevention, initiation, progression, and treatment, as well as other related topics, particularly to capture the most seminal studies in the rapidly growing area of immunology, immunotherapy, and tumor microenvironment.
