Quality of Life in Patients with Brain Tumors

Message from the Guest Editors

This Special Issue on “Quality of Life in Patients with Brain Tumors” delves into the multifaceted challenges faced by patients with brain tumors and their care partners. The quality of life in this patient population encompasses multiple domains—physical, cognitive, emotional, spiritual, social, financial. It affects more than the patient (heavily impacting the care partner(s)), evolves over time, and is impacted by existing inequities in healthcare. This Special Issue aims to present updates, original research, and expert perspectives on these critical aspects within this topic. We aspire to highlight advancements while emphasizing the ongoing need to improve the patient and caregiver experience in this field.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Cancers is an international online journal addressing both clinical and basic science issues related to cancer research. The journal is publishing in Open Access format, which will certainly evolve to ensure that the journal takes full advantage of the rapidly changing world of information and knowledge dissemination. It publishes high-quality clinical, translational, and basic science research on cancer prevention, initiation, progression, and treatment, as well as other related topics, particularly to capture the most seminal studies in the rapidly growing area of immunology, immunotherapy, and tumor microenvironment.
