

Special Issue

Basic and Translational Science in Ocular Oncology

Message from the Guest Editors

This Special Issue of Cancers will cover all aspects of clinical research in ocular oncology. We welcome research related to all types of ophthalmic cancers, i.e., intraocular, periocular, and orbital tumors, including both benign and malignant neoplasms. Authors are encouraged to submit work related to diagnosis, treatment, molecular mechanisms, biomarkers, and pathology/pathophysiology in this area. We welcome original research articles, reviews, communications, and systematic reviews covering various aspects of clinical research in ophthalmic cancers.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Cancers (ISSN 2072-6694) is an international, online journal addressing both clinical and basic science issues related to cancer research. The journal will continue its open access format, which will certainly evolve to ensure that the journal takes full advantage of the rapidly changing world of information and knowledge dissemination. It publishes high-quality clinical, translational, and basic science research on cancer prevention, initiation, progression, and treatment, as well as other related topics, particularly to capture the most seminal studies in the rapidly growing area of immunology, immunotherapy, and tumor microenvironment.
