Molecular Targeting in Cancer: Imaging and Therapy

Message from the Guest Editor

The objective of this Special Issue on “Molecular Targeting in Cancer: Imaging and Therapy” is to publish original research articles and reviews on molecular targeted approaches aimed at visualizing and treating tumors, particularly metastatic disease. Topics suitable for this issue include, but are not limited to, the following: (1) molecular probes for image-guided surgery and image-guided drug delivery; (2) targeted combination therapies; (3) quantification of receptor binding potential; (4) multi-modality molecular imaging; (5) molecular targeting and physical stress in the tumor microenvironment; (6) targeted therapies to overcome drug resistance.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Cancers is an international online journal addressing both clinical and basic science issues related to cancer research. The journal is publishing in Open Access format, which will certainly evolve to ensure that the journal takes full advantage of the rapidly changing world of information and knowledge dissemination. It publishes high-quality clinical, translational, and basic science research on cancer prevention, initiation, progression, and treatment, as well as other related topics, particularly to capture the most seminal studies in the rapidly growing area of immunology, immunotherapy, and tumor microenvironment.
