

Special Issue

PARP Enzymes, ADP-Ribose and NAD⁺ Metabolism in Cancer

Message from the Guest Editors

We are arranging a Special Issue in the journal Cancers (Impact Factor: 6.639). This Special Issue of Cancers will consist of research and review articles on “PARP Enzymes, ADP-ribose, and NAD⁺ Metabolism in Cancer”. It will focus on selected papers from the FEBS Advanced Lecture Course conference on “PARP2021: Research on the Family of Poly(ADP-ribose) Polymerases” (<https://parp2021.febsevents.org/>), that takes place in Barcelona (Spain) on 7–10 September 2021, but all manuscripts relevant to the topic are welcome. The aim of this Special Issue is to offer an up-to-date overview of the current developments in the PARP arena and contribute with new original results

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Cancers (ISSN 2072-6694) is an international, online journal addressing both clinical and basic science issues related to cancer research. The journal will continue its open access format, which will certainly evolve to ensure that the journal takes full advantage of the rapidly changing world of information and knowledge dissemination. It publishes high-quality clinical, translational, and basic science research on cancer prevention, initiation, progression, and treatment, as well as other related topics, particularly to capture the most seminal studies in the rapidly growing area of immunology, immunotherapy, and tumor microenvironment.
