Gynecologic Oncology: Prevention, Screening and Treatment Innovations

Message from the Guest Editor

This Special Issue intends to summarize the current status of gynecologic oncology in relation to prevention, screening and treatment innovations including experimental, translational and clinical research. This includes scientific work on the following issues:

- Gynecologic oncology
- Clinical studies
- Targeted therapy
- Molecular tumor characterization
- Cancer treatment monitoring
- Systemic therapy
- Enabling technologies
- Dysplasia
- Advanced 2D / 3D cancer models
- CRISPR
- Telehealth
- Breast cancer
- Cancer prevention
- Cancer screening
- Cancer genetics
- Cancer virology
- Oncologic surgery
- Robotic surgery
- Treatment innovations
- Artificial intelligence
- Imaging.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Cancers is an international online journal addressing both clinical and basic science issues related to cancer research. The journal is publishing in Open Access format, which will certainly evolve to ensure that the journal takes full advantage of the rapidly changing world of information and knowledge dissemination. It publishes high-quality clinical, translational, and basic science research on cancer prevention, initiation, progression, and treatment, as well as other related topics, particularly to capture the most seminal studies in the rapidly growing area of immunology, immunotherapy, and tumor microenvironment.
