Contrast-Enhanced Ultrasound in the Diagnosis, Treatment and Surveillance of Hepatocellular Carcinoma

Message from the Guest Editors

Hepatocellular carcinoma (HCC) has faced many challenges in recent decades regarding epidemiology, diagnosis, and treatment options. Both the incidence and mortality rates of hepatocellular carcinoma (HCC) have risen dramatically since 1997, meaning that they are now secondary to nonalcoholic steatohepatitis in Western countries.

This Special Issue of Cancers is dedicated to CEUS in HCC, aiming to encourage discussions regarding all the challenges faced by clinicians and the presentation of research on how to manage all the stages of HCC, from diagnosis to treatment and surveillance. We also encourage the submission of papers regarding differential diagnosis with other tumors developed both on cirrhotic and noncirrhotic liver (MAFLD), focusing on imaging aspects and vascular patterns.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Cancers (ISSN 2072-6694) is an international, online journal addressing both clinical and basic science issues related to cancer research. The journal will continue its open access format, which will certainly evolve to ensure that the journal takes full advantage of the rapidly changing world of information and knowledge dissemination. It publishes high-quality clinical, translational, and basic science research on cancer prevention, initiation, progression, and treatment, as well as other related topics, particularly to capture the most seminal studies in the rapidly growing area of immunology, immunotherapy, and tumor microenvironment.
