

Special Issue

Catalysis in Treatment and Utilization of Organic Waste

Message from the Guest Editors

Organic wastes are an important category of hazardous wastes. Some organic wastes are toxic, persistent, and difficult to degrade, so they are very harmful to the environment and humans. Effective catalytic treatment of organic waste can reduce environmental pollution and even turn waste into treasure. Catalysts (ISSN 2073-4344) is an international open access journal of catalysts and catalyzed reactions. This Special Issue of Catalysts on “Catalysis in Treatment and Utilization of Organic Waste” invites papers dealing with emerging topics in environmental chemical and process engineering, including pollution control, separation processes, advanced oxidation processes, resources recovery, waste-to-energy, environmental nanotechnology, and utilization. Papers should describe their experimental and theoretical results in as much detail as possible so that they can be reproduced.

Author Benefits

High Visibility:

indexed within Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), Inspec, Ei Compendex, CAPlus / SciFinder, CAB Abstracts, and other databases.

Journal Rank:

JCR - Q2 (Chemistry, Physical) / CiteScore - Q1 (General Environmental Science )

Rapid Publication:

manuscripts are peer-reviewed and a first decision is provided to authors approximately 16.6 days after submission; acceptance to publication is undertaken in 2.7 days (median values for papers published in this journal in the first half of 2025).
