

Special Issue

Catalysis by Precious Metals, Past and Future

Message from the Guest Editors

This Special Issue will reveal the importance of precious metals catalysis and will be focused on mono- and bi-metallic formulations, on any supported catalysts, and on the promoted catalytic effect of others transition metals catalysts using the precious metal effect. The application of precious metals in diverse reactions of interest, either homogeneous or heterogeneous, and complete studies of the preparation, characterization, and structuring of the supported precious metal catalysts, are welcomed, as well as operando and/or kinetics studies of mechanisms and catalytic performance.
