

Special Issue

Catalysis in the Synthesis of Biologically Active Compounds

Message from the Guest Editors

The purpose of this Special Issue is to present the latest developments in which various types of catalytic processes have been used to synthesize biologically active compounds. Articles that present the latest research focused on developing strategies to improve catalysis processes will be appreciated. We want our issue to include articles presenting new paths for the use of these catalysts, including industrial applications.

Author Benefits

High Visibility:

indexed within Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), Inspec, Ei Compendex, CAPlus / SciFinder, CAB Abstracts, and other databases.

Journal Rank:

JCR - Q2 (Chemistry, Physical) / CiteScore - Q1 (General Environmental Science)

Rapid Publication:

manuscripts are peer-reviewed and a first decision is provided to authors approximately 16.6 days after submission; acceptance to publication is undertaken in 2.7 days (median values for papers published in this journal in the first half of 2025).
