

Special Issue

Recent Trends in Functional Hybrid Nano-Composite Materials and Their Application for Catalysis

Message from the Guest Editors

This Special Issue is intended to reach a wide audience with diverse backgrounds in the educational sector and is aimed at assembling innovative research and development on hybrid composite materials. It will provide extensive information from dynamic experts in the fields of composite materials, composite sciences, catalysis, and various other technologies. Generally, all significant aspects dealing with the materials, chemistry, physics, biology, technology, health sciences, and engineering of nanoscale composite materials, as well as their extensive catalysis applications, will be considered for publication. Authors are cordially invited to present their novel ideas and recent advanced developments in the form of regular papers or reviews in the field of hybrid composite materials for this Special Issue.

Author Benefits

High Visibility:

indexed within Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), Inspec, Ei Compendex, CAPlus / SciFinder, CAB Abstracts, and other databases.

Journal Rank:

JCR - Q2 (Chemistry, Physical) / CiteScore - Q1 (General Environmental Science )

Rapid Publication:

manuscripts are peer-reviewed and a first decision is provided to authors approximately 16.6 days after submission; acceptance to publication is undertaken in 2.7 days (median values for papers published in this journal in the first half of 2025).
