Extracellular Vesicles as Nutrition Messengers in Health and Diseases

Message from the Guest Editor

This Special Issue focuses on extracellular vesicles (EVs; exosomes, microvesicles, etc.) in nutrition as messengers of health and diseases. Original papers and review articles on the following topics are welcome: (I) methodologies for EV isolation and characterization; (II) EVs in edible products (milk, fruits/vegetables, plants, etc.); (III) EV-mediated messages and interspecies cross-talk (components, delivery, gut microbiota); (IV) EVs and nutrition (beneficial/deleterious effects, metabolic contribution to health and diseases).

About the Journal

Message from the Editorial Board

Cells has become a solid international scientific journal that is now indexed on SCIE and in other databases. We have successfully introduced a special issues format so that these issues serve as mini-forums in specific areas of cell science. Cells encourages researchers to suggest new special issues, serve as special issues editors, and volunteer to be reviewers. Our main focus will remain on cell anatomy and physiology, the structure and function of organelles, cell adhesion and motility, and the regulation of intracellular signaling, growth, differentiation, and aging. We are open to both original research papers and reviews.

Author Benefits

High Visibility:

indexed within Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), PubMed, MEDLINE, PMC, CAPus / SciFinder, and other databases.

Journal Rank:

JCR - Q2 (Cell Biology) / CiteScore - Q1 (General Biochemistry, Genetics and Molecular Biology)

Rapid Publication:

manuscripts are peer-reviewed and a first decision is provided to authors approximately 16 days after submission; acceptance to publication is undertaken in 2.7 days (median values for papers published in this journal in the first half of 2025).
