Dear Colleagues,

As the Editor-in-Chief of Chemosensors, it is my great pleasure to announce the winner of the Chemosensors 2021 Ph.D. Thesis Award. This prize was for a doctor who has produced a highly anticipated academic potential thesis.

The award has been granted to:

“Wearable Electrochemical Sensors for Non-Invasive Health Monitoring”

By Juliane Sempionatto, California Institute of Technology, USA

2021 PHD THESIS AWARD WINNER

The winner will receive CHF 500, a certificate, and a chance to publish a paper in Chemosensors before the end of 2022.

On behalf of the evaluation committee, I would like to congratulate the winner on her accomplishment. We would also like to take this opportunity to thank all the nominated research groups of the above exceptional thesis for their contributions to Chemosensors and the Award Committee for voting and helping with this award.
