Special Issue

Developments on Supramolecular Thin Films to Sensing Applications

Message from the Guest Editors

This Special Issue of Chemosensors will include a published collection of manuscripts describing the latest advances in the development of thin films for sensing applications. Both original research papers and review articles highlighting contributions from researchers and scientists working in the field of sensing development will be included. Submissions should specifically consider active layers of sensors based on thin films. Topics of interest include, but are not limited to, the following topics:

- Chemical sensors:
- Electronic tongue;
- Electronic nose;
- Multifunctional materials;
- Biosensors;
- Wearable devices:
- Optical sensors:
- Hybrid devices;
- Colorimetric sensors;
- Printed sensors.

About the Journal

Message from the Editorial Board

Chemosensors continues to grow as a forum for all manners of sensing that encompass chemistry.

Chemosensors is published in open access format – all articles and content are released on the internet immediately following acceptance, thus allowing unlimited access to the content as soon as it is published. We would be happy to have you join our growing list of authors.

Author Benefits

High Visibility:

indexed within Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), CAPlus / SciFinder, Inspec, Engineering Village and other databases.

Journal Rank:

JCR - Q2 (Instruments and Instrumentation) / CiteScore - Q1 (Physical and Theoretical Chemistry)

Rapid Publication:

manuscripts are peer-reviewed and a first decision is provided to authors approximately 20.5 days after submission; acceptance to publication is undertaken in 2.8 days (median values for papers published in this journal in the first half of 2025).
