

Special Issue

Electrodeposition, Characterization and Application of Metal and Alloy Films

Message from the Guest Editors

For the Special Issue, the topics of particular interest include, but are not limited to:

- Electrodeposition and characterization of films or film sequences which do not contain hazard components or their release;
- Electroplating and characterization of thin films of precious metals (Au, Pt, Pd, Rh, etc.) with high performance;
- Study of green additives and ligands aimed at optimizing the deposition of metal coatings;
- Theoretical studies and computational modeling for optimization of the homogeneity of metallic film characteristics;
- Characterization of the properties of metal coatings for their application such as in corrosion resistance, durability, and other technical properties.

About the Journal

Message from the Editorial Board

Now more than ever, research is asked to deliver knowledge and technologies to solve the major challenges faced by our society. The development of new materials and devices for (without the ambition to be exhaustive) energy, health and food technology, together with the need for establishing processes that reduce the impact on critical resources and the environment, is indeed in the spotlight of most contemporary research. Surface science and engineering play a key role in this regard, with an incredible potential in delivering new and deep scientific understanding and technical solutions essential to solve most of the major societal challenges.

Coatings is a well-established, peerreviewed, online journal dedicated to the vibrant field of surface science and engineering. Coatings publishes original research articles that report cutting-edge results and review papers that make the point on the hottest research topics.
