Bio-Optoelectronic Materials and Devices

Message from the Guest Editors

We are excited to announce a Special Issue of Crystals, titled "Bio-Optoelectronic Materials and Devices", which aims to gather work by leading experts and researchers who explore the latest advancements at the intersection of biology, optics, and electronics, specifically focusing on crystalline materials for next-generation bio-optoelectronic devices. We invite you to contribute to this dynamic field by submitting your work for consideration. This Special Issue provides a platform for sharing groundbreaking research and insights that will advance our understanding and application of crystalline bio-optoelectronic materials. For further details on manuscript submission and guidelines, please visit our Special Issue Guidelines page. We look forward to your valuable contributions.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Welcome to Crystals, the journal dedicated to the fascinating world of crystallographic research! Crystals are more than mere decorative elements; they hold the key to understanding the fundamental structure of matter. Our mission is to explore the crucial significance of this research across various fields. From medicine to technology, chemistry to geology, crystals play a vital role. Their structure provides insights into new advanced materials, innovative drugs, and groundbreaking technologies. Through Crystals, we delve into the microscopic world to discover solutions that will shape the future. Join us on a journey through the Crystals, where science merges with beauty and innovation.

Author Benefits

Open Access:

free for readers, with article processing charges (APC) paid by authors or their institutions.

High Visibility:

indexed within Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), Inspec, Ei Compendex, CAPus / SciFinder, and other databases.

Journal Rank:

JCR - Q2 (Crystallography) / CiteScore - Q2 (Condensed Matter Physics)
