What's New in Musculoskeletal Oncology?

Message from the Guest Editors

This Special Issue aims to share knowledge and improve care for our community of bone and soft tissue tumor patients. In this context, Current Oncology will be honored and grateful to receive articles on how tumor surgeons, diagnostic and interventional radiologists, medical oncologists and pathologists approach and manage these patients. This Special Issue will highlight the current state-of-the-art in the management of patients with musculoskeletal tumors, and will provide future prospects for improving our understanding of the tumors biology and optimizing patient care. In this Special Issue, original research articles and reviews are welcome. Research areas may include (but are not limited to) the following: primary and metastatic bone tumors and hematological malignancies, diagnosis, biopsy principles, imaging, surgical treatments and biomechanics (novelties, implants, reconstructions), medical treatments (adjuvants and neo-adjuvants), targeted treatments, outcome (survival, metastasis, local recurrence), prognosis.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

I am honored and enthusiastic to serve as Editor-in-Chief of Current Oncology. Since its establishment in 1994, Current Oncology has been playing an important role in the advancement of cancer care by disseminating new knowledge in the cancer care continuum. Current Oncology is affiliated with several key cancer societies and provides a global platform to share scientific progress in oncology. We strive for high standards and work together to maintain a rigorous and unbiased peer review process to publish high-quality articles. We have an outstanding editorial team which is committed to the success of Current Oncology.
