Real-time Stream Analytics, Stream Mining, CER/CEP and Stream Data Management in Big Data

Message from the Guest Editors

After the success of the first four editions of this workshop, co-located with the IEEE Big Data 2016, 2017, 2018, and 2019, we are pleased to organize the 5th Workshop on Real-time Stream Analytics, Stream Mining, CER/CEP, and Stream Data Management in Big Data (<https://workshop.euranova.eu/>). The authors of accepted papers will have the opportunity to publish an extended version in the Data Special Issue. We invite researchers in this field to submit papers studying scalable online learning, incremental learning on stream processing infrastructures, complex event processing, and composite event recognition. We also encourage submissions on data stream management, data architecture using stream processing, and Internet of Things (IoT) data streaming. Additionally, we appreciate submissions studying the usage of stream processing in new innovative architectures.
