Message from the Guest Editors

This Special Issue, 'Imaging and Chest Diseases', aims to highlight the role of recent technological advancements in imaging modalities with a special focus on CT and lung MRI. Imaging plays a pivotal role in the diagnosis, management, and prognostication of various chest diseases, and the technology has undergone significant changes recently. In this context, original articles, review articles, systematic reviews, meta-analyses, and commentaries based on the scientific content and the novelty of the research will be published. The role of newer technologies, such as dualenergy and photon-counting CT, low-dose and ultra-low dose CT, other radiation dose reduction protocols, functional lung MRI, etc., will be covered in this Special Issue.
