

Special Issue

Liquid Chromatography–Mass Spectrometry (LC-MS) in the Clinical Laboratory

Message from the Guest Editor

The Special Issue focuses on the application of liquid chromatography–mass spectrometry (LC-MS) techniques in clinical laboratory settings, exploring the advancements, challenges, and practical implications of utilizing LC-MS for clinical diagnostics and biomarker discovery. We hope authors can contribute insights into method development, validation, and the integration of LC-MS technologies into routine laboratory workflows. The scope of this Special Issue encompasses the use of LC-MS in precision medicine, and the enhancement of analytical techniques in the clinical laboratory. We welcome submissions on diverse topics and not limited to method development and applications for clinical samples.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

You are cordially invited to submit research articles, short communications, comprehensive reviews, case reports or interesting images for consideration and publication in Diagnostics (ISSN 2075-4418). Diagnostics is published in open access format – research articles, reviews and other contents are released on the Internet immediately after acceptance. The scientific community and the general public have unlimited and free access to the content as soon as it is published. We would be pleased to welcome you as one of our authors.
